Dear Stuart,

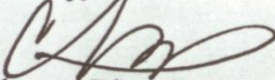

I want to take a brief moment to again thank you for your assistance and advice with Zachary's bris. It had been almost six years since we had to plan a bris and you were very helpful in reducing the anxiety associated with the preparations. This was especially true with regards to the issues associated with Zachary's elevated bilirubin along with your explaining to me the various parts and order of the bris itself.

Perhaps the thing that we most appreciated was your taking time that week to meet with me during the evening to review the pertinent issues involved in the bris itself. This was very meaningful to me as I know how hectic bed time can be with young children and Debbie not only had to deal with your three older children but also the twins that evening.

As far as the bris itself, it was beautiful and very special. Your guidance and officiating during the procedure was very meaningful and allowed all of my family to thoroughly enjoy that day. Several relatives, including my parents were impressed by your knowledge and expertise.

Once again, thank you for making Zachary's bris such a special occasion. It was very satisfying for us to know that we had found someone who was able to make the ceremony so beautiful and meaningful. I have taken the liberty of giving your name to several of my patients who are currently pregnant and I am sure that you will be hearing from them if they deliver a boy.

Sincerely,

Mike and Diane

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with pleasure that I take this opportunity to recommend Dr. Stuart Goldman as a Mohel, performing such a significant service in the lives of many Jewish families in this community and several neighboring communities as far south as Key West. I have known Dr. Goldman for several years and during that time I have only had outstanding experiences both personally and professionally. He is a shining example of integrity, compassion, knowledge, skill, and an uncanny understanding of the spiritual responsibility that he undertakes when representing a new born child before G-d.

Dr. Goldman is an outstanding physician and it is my strong feeling that the consideration and selection of Dr. Goldman as your families Mohel is a decision that will be memorable and meaningful for many years to come.

May your child always be a source of goodness in your lives eternally.

Respectfully submitted,

Richard S. Bennett, D.O.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation for my podiatric colleague Dr. Stuart Goldman. I have known Dr. Goldman for over 12 years while I was in private pediatric practice in Boca Raton, Florida. Like any board certified pediatrician, I was often asked by families to evaluate their children for a variety of gait disturbances and numerous common and uncommon foot and ankle problems. Some families just needed reassurance. However, many of the children needed more specialized evaluation or reassurance from a podiatric specialist. I had many choices for podiatric referrals in South Florida; however, I was always the most comfortable when I could refer my patients to Dr. Goldman. He was always responsive to a parent's questions or fears and concerns. I do not remember ever having a parent complain to me about his care for their child. In addition, he was appropriately conservative in his management, more often prescribing stretching exercises than orthotics for the normal variations of children's feet (turning in or out) Dr. Goldman was my number one podiatric referral for both children and adults. I can speak personally as to Dr. Goldman's diagnostic and clinical skills both as a referring pediatrician and also a patient. My wife and children also were patients of Dr. Goldman and were always pleased with the care we received (and we are hard to please). I can say without reservation that you will not find a better trained, or highly qualified podiatrist than Dr. Stuart Goldman. I can honestly say this as a pediatrician with 20 years of experience, as a parent of his patients, and as one of his patients myself.

Sincerely,

Dear Stuart,

Thank you for your many years of service to our community as a Podiatrist and especially a Mohel. As an obstetrician with a large Jewish patient population I will now find it difficult to find the right Mohel for my patient's newborn baby boys. Your surgical skill (as evidenced by the compliments of my patients) and your reputation as a Torah observant Jew made it quite easy for me to recommend you to any and all of my Jewish patients who requested a referral to a Mohel.

Best wishes on your relocation to Baltimore.

Sincerely,

Sam Heering, MD

It is my pleasure and honor to write this letter of recommendation for Stuart Goldman, D.P.M. Dr. Stuart Goldman is a well respected podiatrist who has been practicing podiatry in central Florida for many years and has recently moved to south Florida.

Dr. Goldman has chosen to contribute to the spiritual welfare of the Jewish Community by teaching and practicing the Jewish rite of Bris Milah which is best translated as "circumcision." However, the circumcisions that Dr. Goldman performs, are unlike the standard medical procedure because it includes particulars of Jewish Law which have been handed down since the time of the first recorded Bris Milah performed by the Jewish patriarch Abraham, on his son Isaac. Dr. Goldman is well respected by the Rabbinic, medical, and lay communities.

Since Dr. Goldman has moved to the area, many people have requested his services for the Bris Milah of their son. Besides performing these rites in the most professional and safe way for the child, Dr. Goldman also makes the parents feel less anxious about the procedure. He turns an uncomfortable moment into a very pleasant experience.

We have had the privilege of having Dr. Goldman perform the Milah of our son and we were very glad we chose him. I recommend Dr. Goldman as Mohel with the highest regard.

Sincerely,

Stuart A. Rubin, M.D./mjh
